

WCBJ'S
100

To celebrate the anniversary of the Westchester County Business Journal, we felt it was time to note the achievements and accomplishments of some of the most influential people identified with Westchester. What follows is a listing of 100 people we are recognizing for their personal success or for their contributions to the betterment of the county. Some may not live here but own companies here, which have brought recognition to the county or have impacted the quality of life we all enjoy. We know there are many others. Look for them in future editions of WCBJ.

KEITH SAFIAN
Armonk

A leader in hospital administration, he has kept Phelps Memorial Hospital Center in the black for 20 years even while building the hospital's multi-million-dollar emergency wing — a model for other institutions in the region.
